Suggestions for use

This craft can be completed in one day, but it is best completed over several days. Each day, brainstorm a list of things (places, people, or events) students are thankful for. Do one section per day. Create that list on chart paper from which students can copy. Have student students choose several items to draw and write about. On the last day, have students create a paragraph that includes components from each tab. The bottom, I am Thankful, tab is a culmination of the previous days' work. It can also be an open ended writing or illustrating page.

Printing Suggestion: Print all the pages to the same scale.

Cutting Suggestion: Cut around each black lined border, including the large page. You can leave a little white space. If you do leave white space, make it small and leave the same amount on all pieces. Line up the black lines on the left side. Staple on the left.

I am thankful for many things, people, places, and events. Looking back on this year, I realize it was really a challenging year. But throughout it all, my family helped to make it fun. We played games, went on hikes, and made special memories together. I am thankful that we get to visi

We didn't go to many events this past year. That was really hard.
But at the same time, I also really enjoyed being with my family.
I loved celebrating my birthday with just my family. It was a small celebration, but we were able to make it special. My dad made my favorite pie from scratch. We had popcorn, and watched my favorite movie. Of course, it was a Star Wars movie!

One of my favorite places to go is my grandparent's house. I especially enjoy going there because it is the place where all of my family gathers every week. We have a family dinner there. I get to see my cousins and

One person that I am thankful for is my reading tutor. I see her online four times a week. She has taught me so much. She has helped me learn how to read better. We also work on spelling and writing. We write really funny stories together. She makes sure all the words we are learning are in the story, but that's okay. It's good practice. Most of all, I enjoy when she share stories of her dog and cats!
